VOLUME THIRTY-EIGHT

OUR LADY, QUEEN OF THE ANGELS SEMINARY

MISSION HILLS CALIFORNIA

As growth and change are in-separable aspects of all life, so they are part of our Seminary experience, requiring us to let go of our pasts and to reach out toward our futures. Growth and change move us out of our former selves and lead us to discover who we are and who we are meant to be. As seminarians, we must grow, listen, and search.

The Seminary holds a special position in our lives. Living here, we grow closer together as brothers, and we share our experiences in order to learn more about ourselves and our world. We change in many ways. With each change, we come closer to the meaning of our lives, and in turn, closer to God.

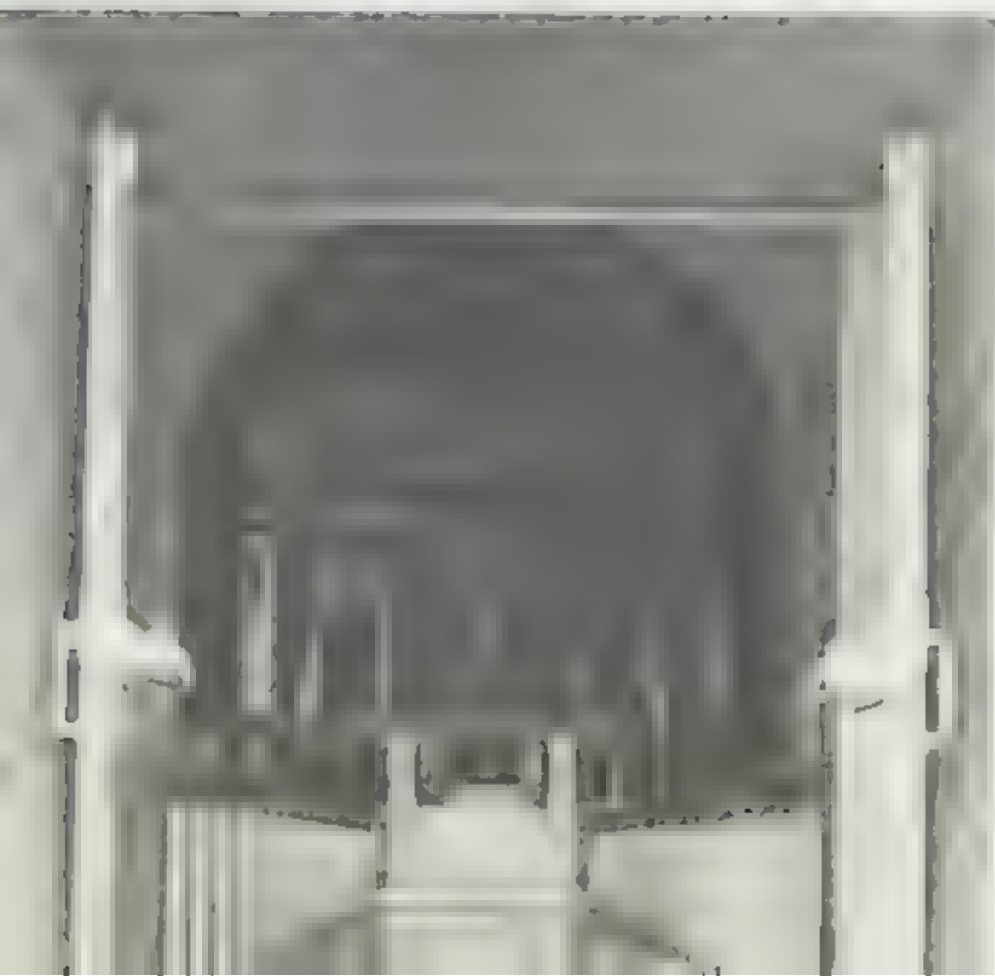

This page sponsored by Rev. Norman Priebe and Assumption Parish, Pasadena.

The purpose of learning is growth, and our minds, unlike our bodies, can continue growing as we continue to live.
Mortimer Adler

He put another parable before them, "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed which a man took and sowed in a field. It is the smallest of all seeds, but when it has grown it is the biggest shrub of all and becomes a tree so that the birds of the air come and shelter in its branches."
Matthew 13 31-33.

administration, faculty, and staff

The seminary is a place, but it is also people. The administration, faculty, and staff are the people at the center of the place, working for our good. With the students, they attempt to create special environments—spiritual, intellectual, physical, social, psychological—that are growth-producing.

While the administration, faculty, and staff have definite areas of responsibility in the Seminary, all contribute to the goals of Queen of Angels. All share a common concern for us and are interested in our progress. With this help we grow toward our futures.

1. Fr. Krekeberg discusses matters of importance with Fr. Ziemann.
 2. Going over the themes for the liturgy, Mrs. McGrath and Fr. Burnham choose songs for the mass.
 3. Sr. Lydia pauses to chat with Mrs. Dunlap.

Office of the Rector

Dear Students:

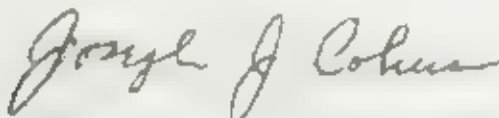

The class of 1981 will soon depart from Our Lady, Queen of the Angels for a destiny planned for them by God.

The years here have been years of growth and change and it reminds us of the parable of the mustard seed. We are told that the mustard seed is the smallest of all seeds yet it grows into the biggest shrub of all. This has been the same kind of growth you have experienced. A growth spiritually, academically and physically.

This has also been a time of growth and change for the seminary. You have seen a change in the faculty, Rector, and physical plant. There has been growth which you have witnessed by an increase in enrollment and spirit of sharing of what you have with others.

May Our Lord guide you as you continue to grow in this love and reflect what you have been given by leading others to eternal happiness.

Sincerely in Christ,

Rev. Monsignor Joseph J. Cokus

SISTERS OF PIOUS SCHOOLS

Mother Clotilde
Sister Matilde
Sister Cristina
Sister Agueda

The Sisters of the Pious Schools are a special part of our Seminary family. Their cheerful and loving care for us is a daily reminder that Christian growth means learning to serve. We don't know how the Sisters manage to cope with all of us ever-hungry boys. But they do - and we love 'em!

programs

Growing up in Queen of Angels means growing in faith. For three special programs—spiritual, academic, and athletic—focus on helping students grow up in faith that way.

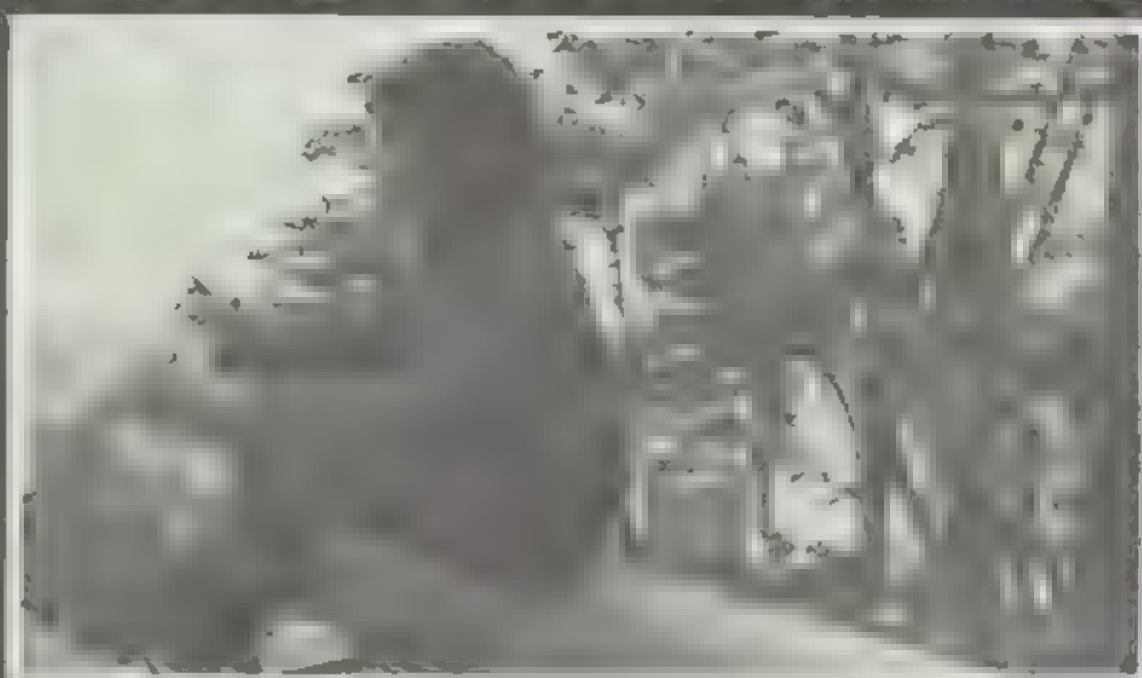

The spiritual program is at the heart of Seminary life. It brings us close to God and teaches us to be men of prayer.

The college-prep academic program reinforces the spiritual program's praying men must also be a thinking man.

The athletic program complements the other two in that, ideally, four years of directed growth in prayer, study, and physical fitness in an atmosphere of friendship and concern should produce good men—good men of God—good men for God and for his people.

1. At Benediction, Father Burnham raises the monstrance for the blessing

2. Spiking the ball, Kevin Nolan tips the volleyball to Carlos Quintero

3. Joe McKay says the rosary

4. American history with the Juniors

5. Listening habits

SPIRITUAL PROGRAM

The intensive spiritual program gives the Seminary its special character. Each exercise has a purpose - to bring the seminarians closer to God in a relationship that will be the most important one of their lives.

1. Senior Larry Dowdel leads the students in morning prayer
2. Before meals, the students give thanks for their food
3. It is a tradition at the Seminary to visit the chapel immediately after meals
4. Father Burnham, Spiritual Director, prays the office

MASS

Mass is the center of the Seminary day. At 11:15 the Seminary community gathers for the Eucharistic liturgy.

1. At the offertory, we offer our gifts and our prayers to God
2. During the homily, Father Burnham relates the Gospel message to our everyday life
3. Before receiving communion, we offer the sign of peace to one another
4. When we receive communion, we come to the altar with open and humble hearts

SPIRITUAL EXERCISES

1. After they rise, the students come to chapel for morning prayers. They read from psalms, listen to a Gospel reading, read various prayers, and meditate on the Scriptures
2. Students recite the Angelus before each meal

3. Later in the day, the students gather in the chapel for spiritual reading
4. After this, the Seminarians kneel to pray the Rosary.
5. The schedule ends with night prayers. The students often sing a song based on the theme of the day.

1. Spiritual counseling from the priests is always available
2. During morning prayers, a priest is in the confessional to hear confessions

3&4. Group prayer does not always satisfy the seminarians' personal spiritual needs. In order to really benefit from the spiritual program, the students must spend some of their own free time in prayer. Many times during the day, students go to the chapel for private prayer.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

1. Father Ziemann concentrates on the study of the Bible in Sophomore religion class. For Juniors, Father Ziemann's Comparative Religions Course is a new field

2. Under Father Krekelberg's direction, Seniors study Church doctrine

3. In their religion class, Freshmen study Church history with Father Burnham.

MUSIC

4. Mrs. McGrath, chairperson of the Music Department, teaches music theory to the Sophomores. She also teaches choral music to the entire student body

HISTORY

1. The chairman of the History Department, Msgr. Cokus, teaches U.S. History to the Juniors
2. Jack Bustamante teaches World History to the Freshmen

SOCIOLOGY/ECONOMICS

3. Before sociology begins, the Seniors talk about yesterday's notes. Seniors study sociology and economics under Father Przygoda's expert tutelage

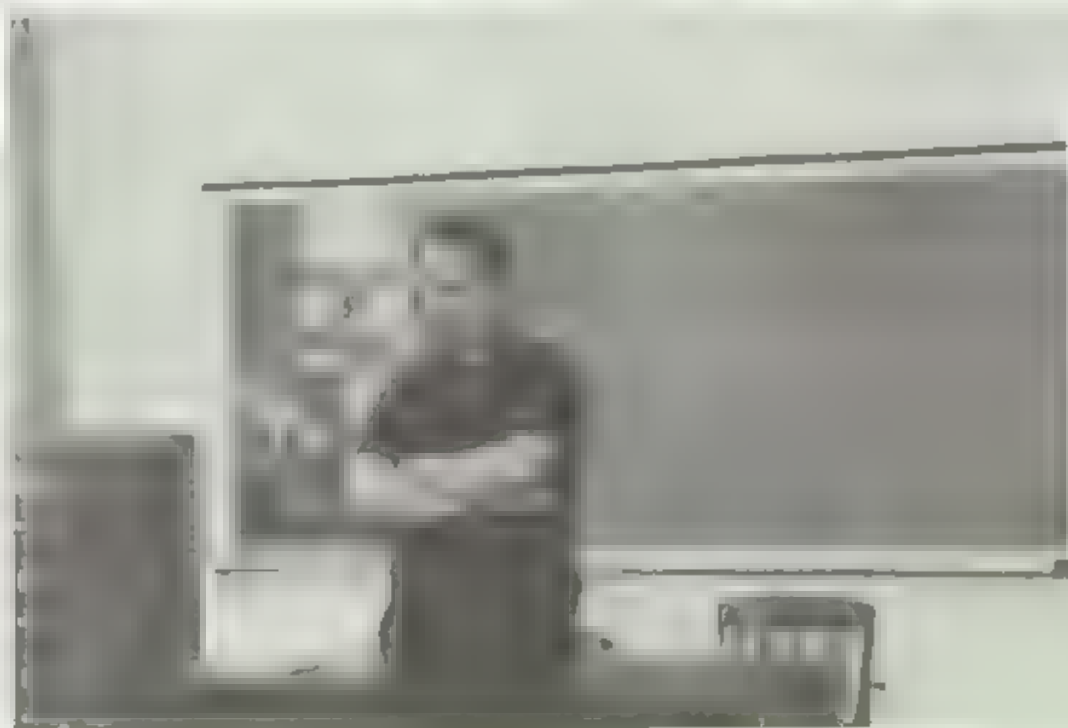

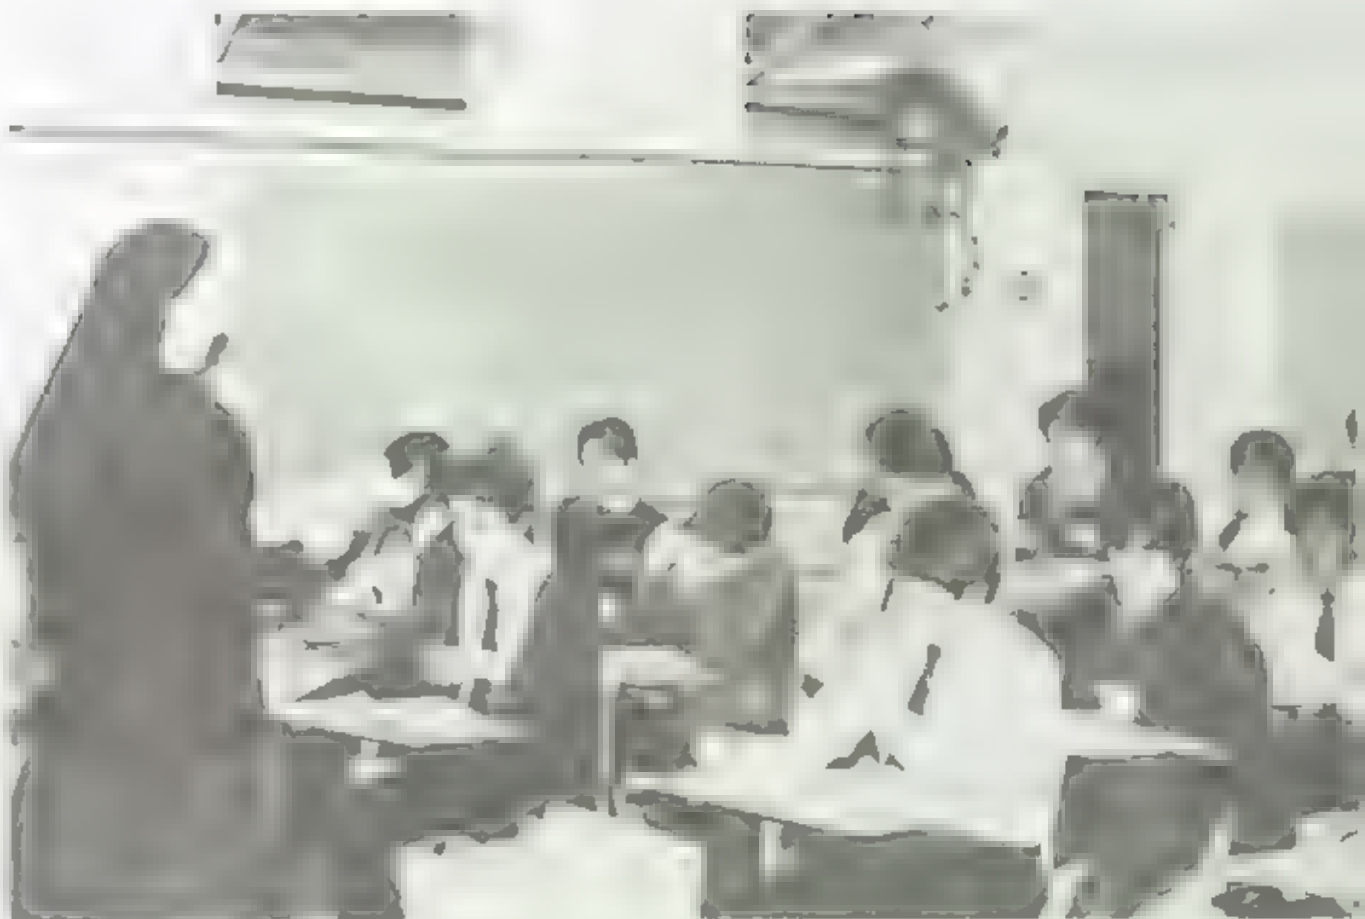

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

4. In American Government, Fr. Przygoda leads the Seniors through the complications of the American political system

ENGLISH

1. Although Sister St. George, chairperson of the English Department, insists that English is a foreign language at Queen of Angels, she struggles to maintain a genuine college-prep curriculum in her Freshman and Senior English classes.
2. Sophomores benefit from Mr. Bustamante's energetic and enthusiastic teaching methods

SPEECH

3. Father Ziemann, is there hope for the Seniors in your speech class?

JOURNALISM

4. When the Prep staff needs assistance, Sister St. George helps out. Her favorite comment in moments of decision "It's your book!"

SPANISH

1. Sister Lydia is Chairperson of the Spanish Department
2. Father Burnham, teaches Spanish to Freshmen 9A
3. Sister Lydia uses a small-group approach in her classes

LATIN

4. Latin lives! Some Juniors and Seniors study Latin with Sister St. George

SCIENCE

1. Sr. Leo Francis, Chairperson of the Science Department, teaches biology to Sophomores and chemistry to Juniors
2. Fr. Krekelberg leads freshmen through the mysteries of science
3. A physics experiment absorbs the attention of the Seniors
4. With Sister Leo Francis, teaching goes on outside the classroom as well as inside

MATHEMATICS

1. Algebra II students work in small groups.
2. Father Barnabas Hughes makes Algebra I a lively class for Freshmen.

ART

3. Sophomores discover hidden talent in Mrs. Rogge's art class

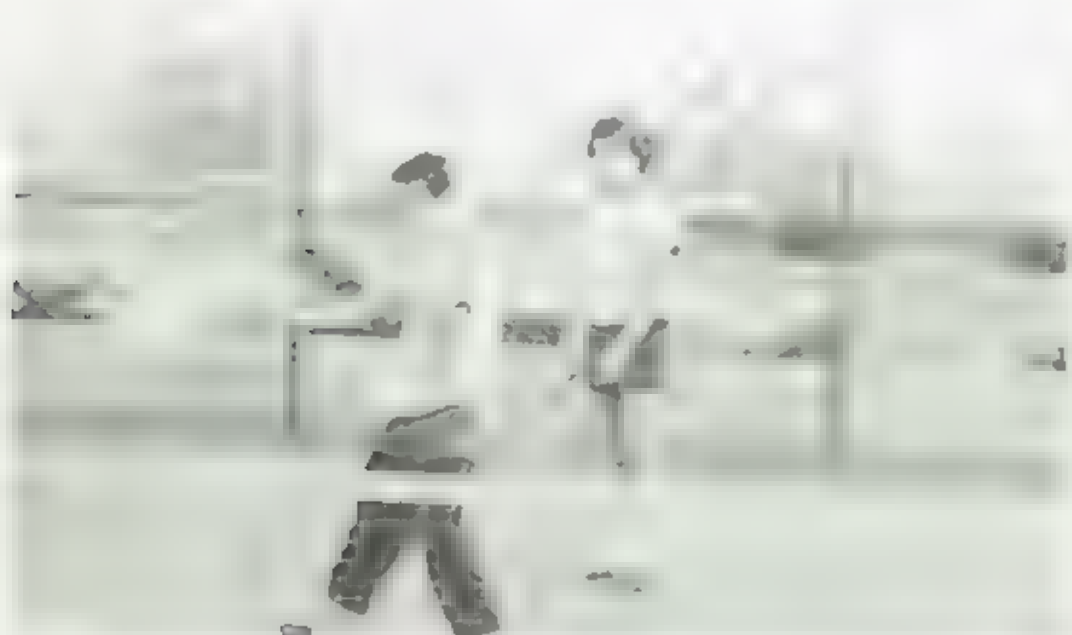

TYPING

4. Typing is a necessary skill for college-prep students. Mrs. Wishard works hard to impart that skill

SPORTS PROGRAM

FIRST QUARTER

Volleyball, tennis, and handball make up a rigorous schedule for first-quarter sports. Under the direction of Coach Crowley, the students form twenty teams. These teams compete in a series of games, working their way to the play-offs where the team displaying the highest degree of skill emerges as champ.

1. What a spectacular hit! Carlos Quintero leaps, spiking the ball over the net as teammates, Kevin Nolan and Brian Favorite watch

2. Preparing for the big game, Kevin Nolan and Mike Guarino warm up

3. This isn't a ten kilometer run, but Dan Hopcus is determined to hold the lead

SECOND QUARTER

The two toughest sports, football and war-ball make up the second-quarter schedule. Coach Crowley adds his own refinements to the games and livens up the season. As in first quarter, one team of champions emerges from the intramural competition.

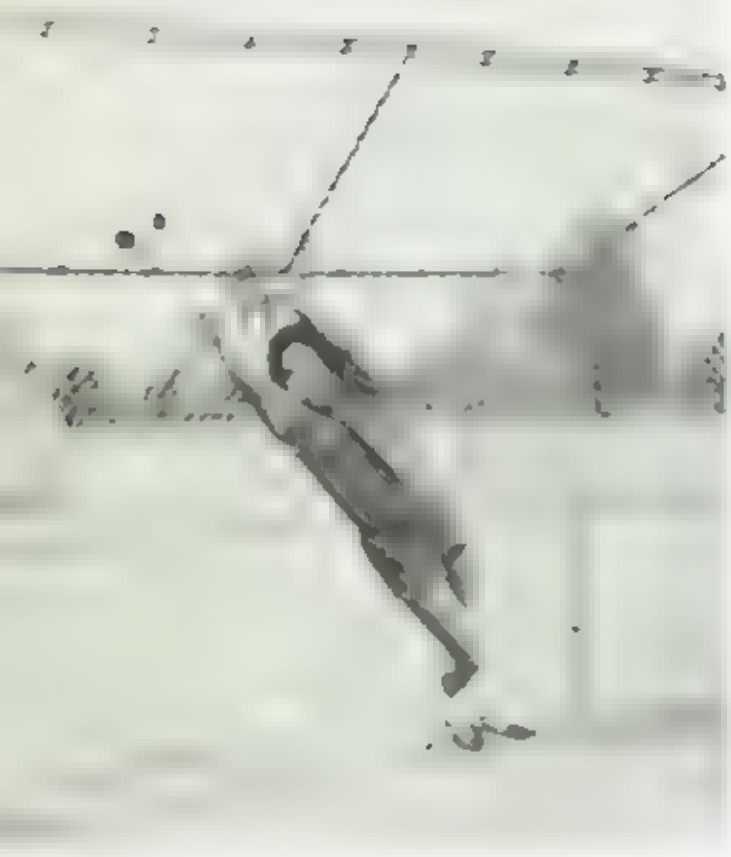

1. Rico Emnace puts himself into a war-ball game
2. Teams line up, ready for the play
3. Coach Crowley keeps an eye on the games
4. Rene Olivas throws a pass as James Walsh charges the offense.

SPORTS PROGRAM

THIRD QUARTER SPORTS

Picking up where football and warball left off, the third quarter makes the scene with soccer and enclosed soccer. The game calls for quick action, every moment bringing a sudden turnover. When the games are over, each participant walks away feeling like a real competitor.

1. Attempting to pass John Forte, Mike Estrada uses slight-of-foot while teammate Andy Zepeda looks on
2. Making a spectacular save, John Forte lunges for the ball
3. One step ahead of the pack, Rico Ennace moves deftly across the soccer field
4. Carlos Quintero rams the ball home aggressively, but Ernie Flores is determined to foil Carlos' plan

FOURTH QUARTER SPORTS

The fourth quarter features an array of Crowley-founded sports. Ultimate frisbee and enclosed baseball bring out true sportsmanship in the players. One-on-one basketball, the annual Fr. Ziemann Relays, and the Enclosed Baseball World Series are all part of the schedule for the last quarter of a great year of sports at Q.A.

1. Leaping high to catch the frisbee, Rico Emnace reaches through the defenses of Gerard Striping and Jim Crane
2. Steve McDevitt could use a few extra inches as he battles John Miller in a game of one-on-one basketball
3. With David Zak cheering him on, Raul Obregon digs in to get some traction on the wet asphalt

1. In a moment of quiet, Larry Dowdel and Tim Prendergast kneel before the Blessed Sacrament.

2. Helping Tony Islas out is Lyford Rome.

4. Theater-going seniors and friends pose outside the Ahmanson.

Senior year is the culmination of four years of growth and change here at Union of Angels. This fourth year finds us busy making decisions about our futures—futures that begin with graduation. It also finds us busy with the responsibilities that are ours because we are Seniors, helping to shape and direct the life of the Seminary.

Part of the magic of Senior year is the fact of being so much a part of Seminary life. We were once Freshmen—beginners. Now we have reached an important milestone. We enjoy our Senior privileges, but we work, too. GGP teaching provides a challenge for all of us, as does introducing the Freshmen to the school. Producing and directing our year-end play is both work and fun.

As Seniors we often think how quickly the time has gone by and how glad we are that the Seminary has been our home for four important growing years.

Representing the Seniors on the Student Council are Dan Gaffey, Class President, and Miguel Orellana, Class Vice-President.

 4. Endeavoring to enrich his mind, Brian Verkuyten cracks the books.
 5. Using their natural talents, Stoltz and David Zak battle it out in Ace of Aces.

students

The students here at Queen of Angels come from many different backgrounds. Yet no matter how diverse we are, we share one common goal—we want to know whether or not God has called us to ecclesiological priesthood.

Living together in a close community, we learn to work, share, and recreate with one another. We grow in a community of friendship. Our personalities develop, helped along by the interest and concern of other students.

As we continue in the Seminary, responsibilities become part of our lives; our whole of vocation becomes clearer.

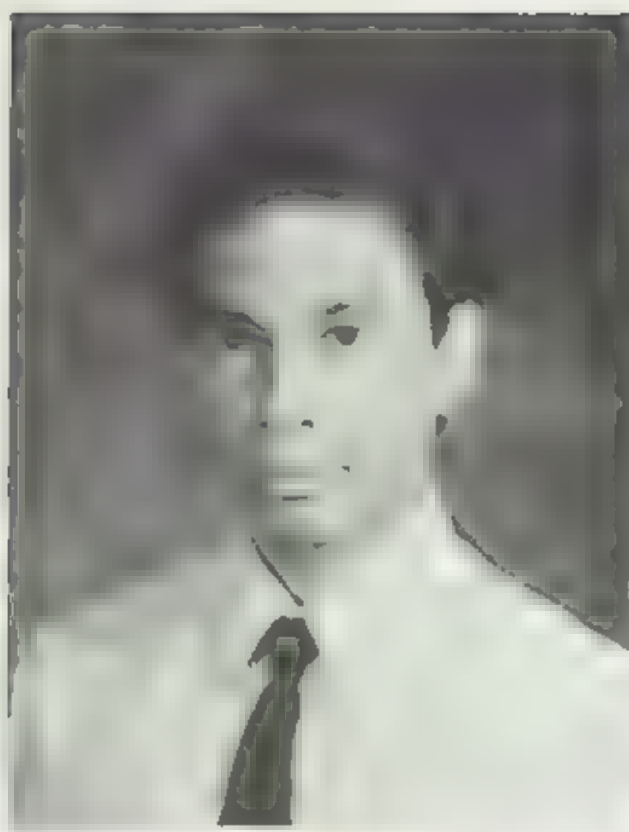

JUNIORS

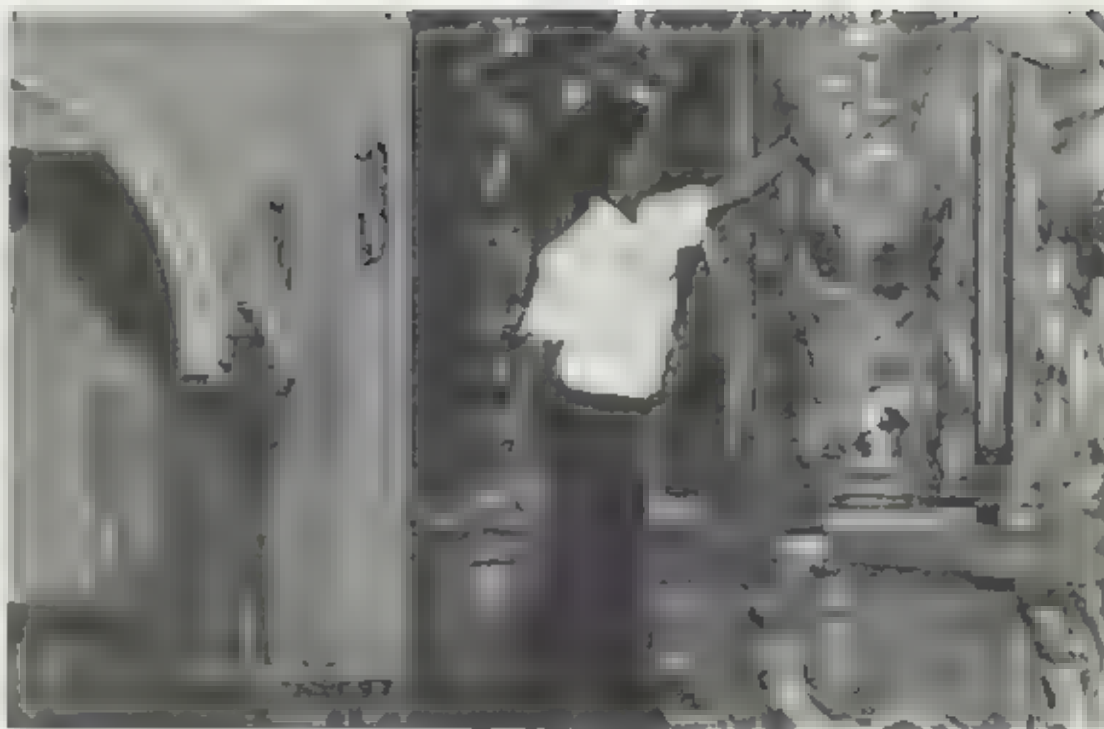

Junior year is a year of participation. It offers opportunities for leadership and further growth. Becoming an upperclassman demands greater maturity and greater generosity. Juniors share responsibility with the seniors always becoming more involved in the life of the Seminary

1. The library provides a quiet study place for juniors Michael Taylor and Manuel Pulido seminary life

Living together as a close-knit family requires that each of us pull his own weight for the well-being of the community. We must support one another, encourage one another, and work to keep the Seminary running smoothly. As Seminarians, we learn, not only, from the classroom but from experience.

Our growth in maturity keeps step with the greater responsibility we assume each year. Holding a class or student body office, monitoring a dorm or the library, taking on a C.C.D. teaching assignment, or even producing this yearbook-These are just a few of the growth experiences we know. Beginning as underclassmen, we assume responsibilities which demand greater attention and judgment. Moving from freshman to senior is a steady progression in lessons of leadership and service. The spirit of the seminary makes these lessons worth learning.

1. Gino D'Amato and Kevin Nolan arrange the "Sacramentary" for Mass.
2. Coach Crowley discusses the day's sports events with assistant Greg Bickel.
3. Jaime Cayva and David Moya enjoy the lunch hour.
4. Marco Medina takes his turn supervising during evening library hours.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Emphasizing the verb hacer, this year's Student Council Members set out to do. Building on foundations laid by the 1979-80 Student Council they launched a number of committees with the prime directive, "Do something!" They did. As a result, the Student Council can look back on a year of doing that was also a year of growing—growing in maturity, responsibility, concern, brotherhood. Or, to say it another way, a year of growing in the spirit of the Seminary

1. Executive Student Council members, Corresponding Secretary David Zak, Secretary John Provenza, Vice President Mike Dunahee, and President Joe Thometz are prime movers in Student Body affairs.

2. Associated Student Body President Joe Thometz looks over his back

3. The members of the Student Council do posterity a favor (standing) Miguel Medina, Antonio Fernandez, Robert Houle, John Weitzel, John Provenza, David Zak, James Walsh, John Forte, (seated) Miguel Orellana, Dan Gaffey, Joe Thometz, Mike Dunahee, and Moderator, Father Krekelberg

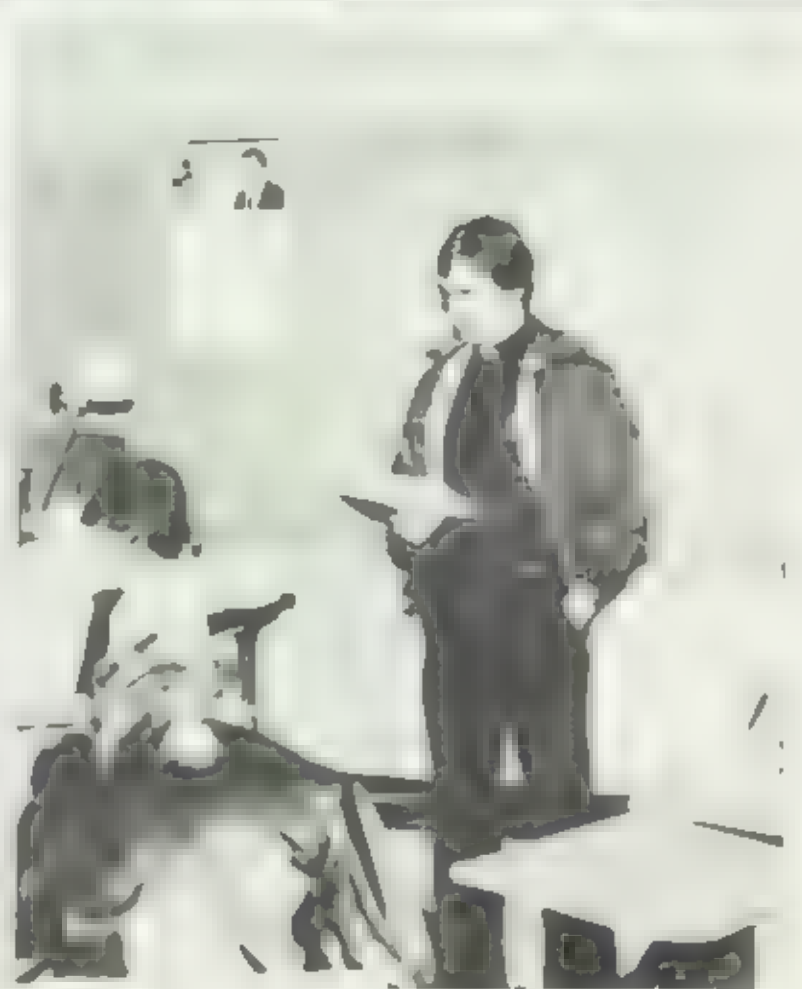

1. Senior class officers, Dan Gaffey and Miguel Orellana, stand above Junior class officers, Robert Houle and John Weitzel

2. Discussing ways and means, Freshman Vice-President Tony Fernandez, President Miguel Medina, Sophomore Vice-President John Forte, and Sophomore President James Walsh, listen to views expressed by other members of the Student Council

3. Associated Student Body Vice-President Mike Dunahee tries on a Kennedy look

4. Student Council Moderator Father Richard Krekelberg reads a progress report

THE LITURGY COMMISSION

1. Father Burnham sets direction for the Liturgy Commission whose members are: (standing) Marco Medina, Lyford Rome, Jorge Ramirez, Mike Dunahee, Alex Paner, John Rome; (seated) Tim McGinty, Gino D'Amato, Paul Pastor, Eugene Castillo, and Diego Hernandez

THE MISSION SOCIETY

2. Mission Society members, Martin Olivar, Tim McGinty, Marco Medina, (seated), Michael Evans, and Martin Hicks, encourage students to support the church in mission countries

SACRISTANS

1. Sacristans, Jorge Ramirez, Tim McGinty, Jesse Lopez, Rene Olivas, Robert Houle, and Carlos Brooks, prepare the sacristy and sanctuary for liturgical ceremonies

LITURGICAL PREPARATION

2. The Seminary's singing congregation depends on cues from Paul Stoltz, Mike Littlejohn, Daniel Calvillo, Tony Spangler, and Bill Kilmond who post song numbers and pass out song sheets

MASTERS OF CEREMONIES

3. As Masters of Ceremonies, Gino D'Amato and Kevin Nolan see to it that seminary liturgies move smoothly and with dignity

DIRECTORS

1. Lyford Rome, Paul Wolfe, and John Miller make a joyful noise to the Lord
2. Lyford Rome directs the Schola
3. Students and director, Paul Wolfe, sing the responsorial psalm.

SCHOLA

4. Schola members are the mainstay of the choral music program.

GUITARISTS

1. Demonstrating their musical expertise, guitarists Dan Hopcus, Dan Gaffey, Dan Kenny, Mike Dunahee, and Glenn Sequera, play for mass
2. Assistant guitarists, Rod Gonzalez-Rubio, Mike Estrada, Ernie Flores, and Daryl Sequera, practice before mass.

ORGANISTS

3. Organists Larry Dowdel, Timothy McGinty, and Lyford Rome vary the musical style at daily mass.

GUITAR LESSONS

4. Teaching Mike Estrada how to play guitar, Mr. Boucher gives him the basic chords

STUDENT SERVICES

CANTEEN STAFF

1. Volume sales to snack-hungry Seminarians keep the canteen staff, Martin Zaragoza, Gerard Stripling, Manuel Rodriguez, and Ban Nguyen busy

2. Stopping by the canteen Manuel Pulido buys a bag of potato chips from Manuel Rodriguez

BOOKSTORE

3. The bookstore does thriving business under student manager, Mark Smith, and his staff, Randy Kehr, Tom Peters, Daryl Sequeira, Ruben Lopez, and Rico Ennace
4 "Finally, the last customer of the day," says Mark Smith

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

1. Tragedy, comedy, tragic-comedy, comical-tragedy—whatever the occasion calls for, the Entertainment Committee members, Paul Wolfe, Brian Favorite, Mike Estrada, Dan Gaffey, and Lyford Rome, meet the need.
2. Entertainment Committee members, Lyford Rome and Paul Wolfe, test the equipment back stage.

AUDIO-VISUAL

3. Jim Henry sets up the movie projector for religion class
4. Setting up, taking down, and maintaining A-V equipment are everyday jobs for Jim Henry, Chris "A-V Man" Moscicki, and Paul Pastor

INDOOR RECREATION

1. The indoor recreation crew, Khoi Pham, John Provenza, Jim Walsh, and Vincent Torres, supply equipment and advice for the Seminary's pool, ping pong, and air hockey enthusiasts

OUTDOOR RECREATION

2. Everybody needs fresh air and exercise. Outdoor recreation gives everyone his fair share of each. Dan Calvillo, Paul Pastor, Tim Prendergast, and Greg Bickel assist Coach Crowley on the field and make sure equipment is issued and returned in good condition

WEIGHT ROOM

3. The weight room is a gathering place for fitness buffs. While the weight room helps keep students fit, Greg Bickel, Marco Medina, and Brian Favorite keep the room in shape

LIBRARIANS

1. A staff of Juniors and Seniors works with head librarian, Larry Dowdel, during evening library hours

"Rest in peace," is both an objective and a directive for Seminary dormitorians.

2. "A" Dormitorians: Joe Thometz, Steve McDevitt, Art Ramirez, Jorge Ramirez, John Miller, Miguel Orellana, Dan Gaffey, and Jesse Lopez

3. "B" Dormitorians: Jaime Gonzalez, Paul Wolfe, Chris Moscicki, Lyford Rome, Glenn Sequeira, Mike Dunahee, Tony Islas, Tim Prendergast, and Gino D'Amato

4. "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," say Mike Taylor and Raul Obregon who supervise the Wednesday work order activities

CO-ADMINISTRATION

MAIL AND BELLS

1. Keeping the student body on time and in touch with the world, Kevin Petty, Chris Baustert, and James Sanchez ring bells and distribute the mail.

FLAGS

2. Matt Maxwell and Carlos Armas keep the flags flying

INFIRMARIANS

3. Infirmarians, Cuong Phan, Steve McDevitt, and Rod Gonzales-Rubio, look after the sick

REFECTORIANS

1. Art passes out desert.
2. Refectorians, Jaime Gonzalez, John Miller, Art Ramirez, and Alex Quezada take a break after the mealtime rush.

LOCK-UP

3. Students in charge of lock-up, Ernie Flores, Jim Crane, John Weitzel, and Manuel Pulido, make their rounds

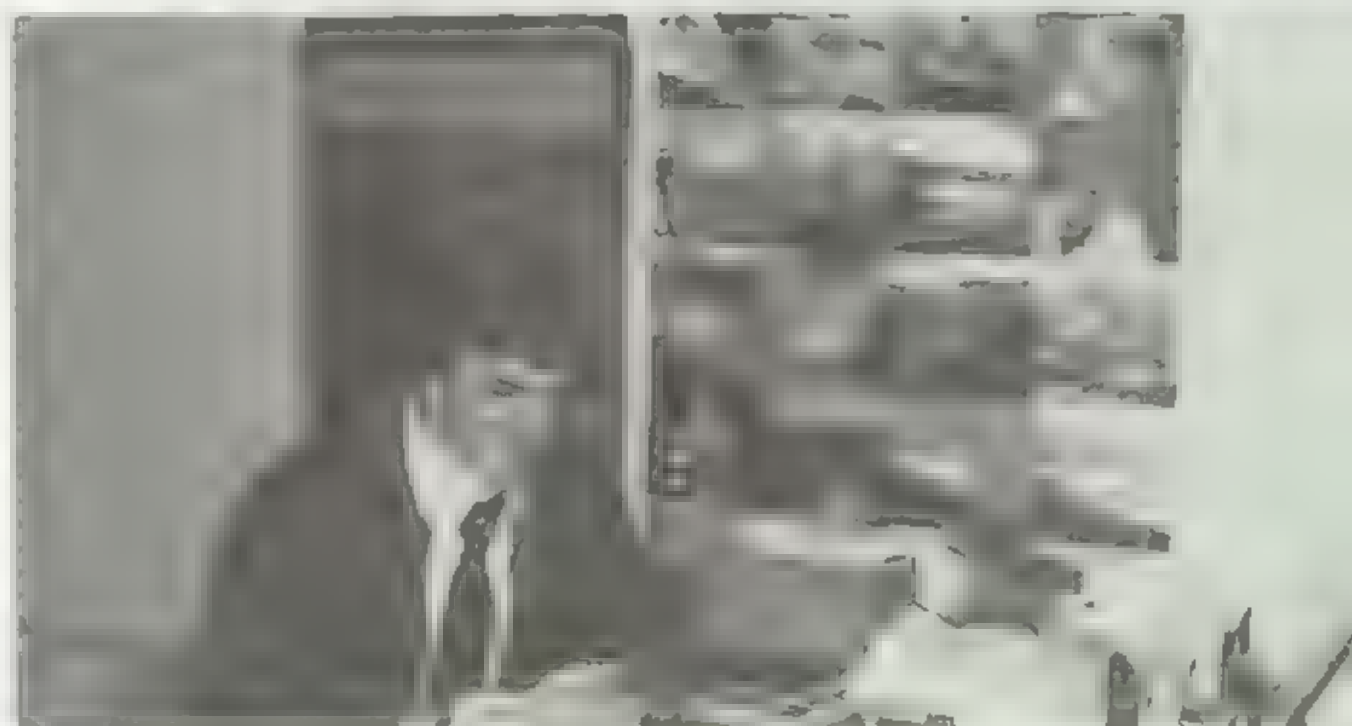

PROFILES OF THE PREP STAFF

1. The group of highly trained professionals charged with the production of the remarkable literary work that is The Prep, 1981 is the Prep Staff. Under the direction of Glenn Sequeira and Lyford Rome, the Prep Staff creates a deathless record of the events of the school year. Glenn and Lyford are known for the crack outfit they maintain. (Both Glenn and Lyford attended the week-long yearbook "workshop" in San Diego over the summer.)

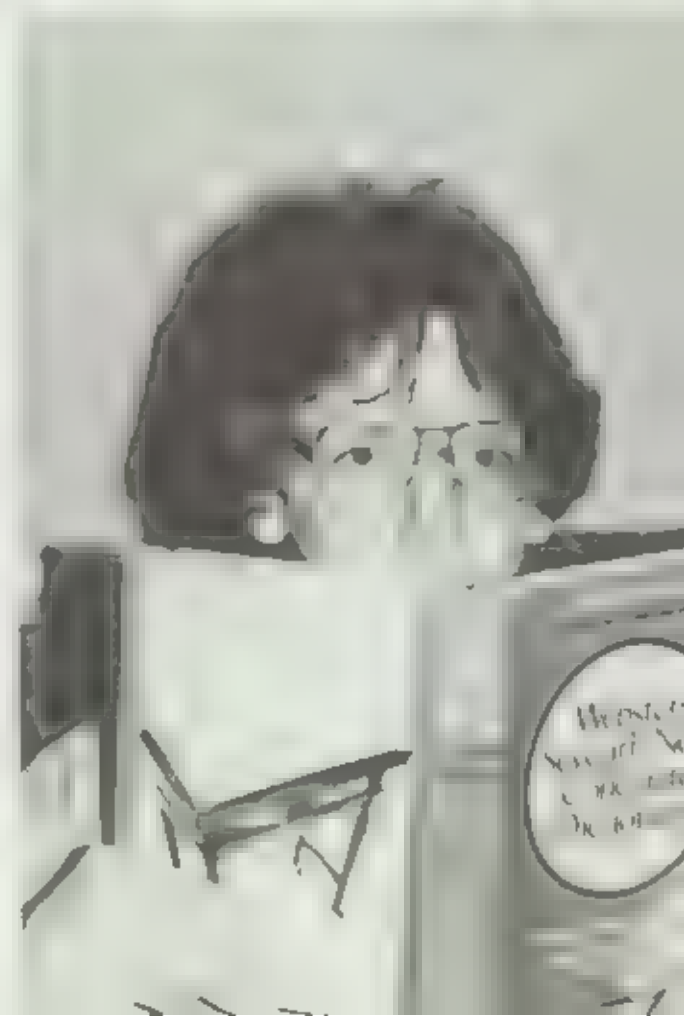

2. Dan Gaffey, our money manager, collects from those who are unfortunate enough to owe money to our little operation. Dan is also our travel agent, as he arranges the Prep field trips, such as the Christmas Excursion to Hawaii. Thank you, Prep sponsors. (Dan is the brother of Pat Gaffey, famous radio newsman.)

3. Mike Dunahee is copy editor. This means he proofreads all the copee, or writing, that is submitted to the printing plant for spelling and grammar errors. (Myke is a graduate of the Threee-step Eeezy Spelling an Grammer Coarse.)

4. Yearbook advisor, Sister St. George supervises the multitude of operations going on and brings a touch of high seriousness to an otherwise rowdy staff. (Sister is also the author of the bestseller, Down with Oobleck!)

5. Joe Thometz leads the Smart Patrol. Joe's responsibilities include troubleshooting, preserving us for posterity, arguing with the referees, and making sure that no Prep spread filled with dumb jokes and stupid pictures gets into the book. (Joe is a graduate of the Society for Propagation of Oobleck.)

6. Taking care of the art department is Jaime Leyva. Jaime is the envy of all other Prep members as there really is no art at all to this book. However, this small defect does not stop Jaime, who, faithful to his job, fills his class time drawing instead of working. We admire determination like that. Jaime (Jaime is also the Prep's driver, a graduate of both the Car-master and Rick Ray College for the Automotive Arts)

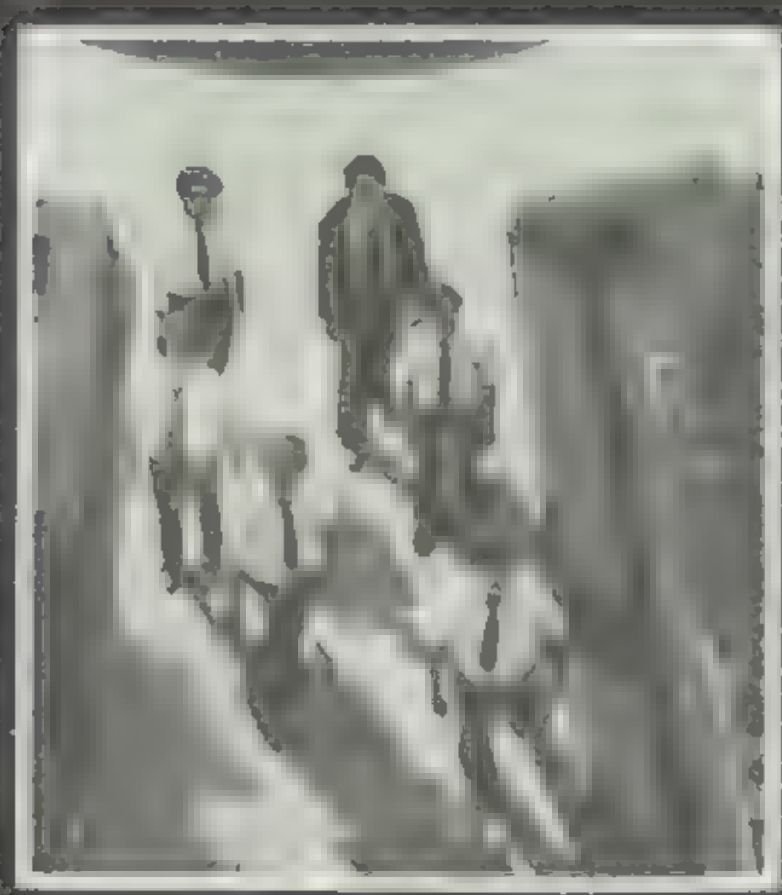

7. Understudies are the future Prep Staff. They endure this year's rigorous training program so that next year they can produce a yearbook just like this one. Good luck, guys, we're behind you all the way. The understudies are Dan Hopcus, John Provenza, Brian Favonte, Alex Quezada, Robert Houle, Rodrigo Gonzalez-Rubio, Jim Henry, and Carlos Brooks.

8. Photographer Paul Wolfe is the backbone of the Prep Staff. His job is to fill boring, drab, white pages with even more boring, drab, black and white pictures. Taking Paul's photograph was extremely difficult as he is in the darkroom most of the time. Left: Flash shot of Paul in the darkroom. Right: Photo shot without flash (Paul is a graduate of the J.C. school of photography)

1. Freshmen Jim Mead, Jeff Falero, Rafael Palacios, Dewi Pasquasi, Anthony Spangler, Mike Evans, and Mike Littlejohn take notes on their class tour of the Lockheed-Palmdale plant.

2. Walking through the gardens of the J. Paul Getty Museum, Jaime Gonzalez, John Miller, John Weltman, John Hovener, Miguel Angel, and Chris Mosicki meet the camera's eye.

3. Seniors Phil McGinnis and Sam D'Amato look for one of the more popular exhibits.

4. With Santa's plans coming along on, elf (Joe Thometz) prepares to present a gift.

activities

Life at Queen of Angels is not all work and no play. Recreation and other free-time activities are part of the schedule too.

During our leisure time, we may head for the rec-room to relax or play a game of pool. Sometimes we drop in at the Canteen for a snack, or we ramble around the grounds with our friends.

For special occasions, we organize entertainments and parade our home talent for Gaudeteus and the Mardi Gras. We also perform for parents and friends on Parents Day, at our Christmas celebration, and in the Senior Play. Classes organize activities to help those in the seminary, for example, the Big Brother-Little Brother program for Freshmen and Seniors, and for those outside the seminary, for example, the Sophomore-Junior visits to the elderly in convalescent homes. Theater parties, concert-going, and field trips are other activities that, for us, are both recreational and educational.

INVESTITURE CEREMONY

This year was a special one for the Seminary as two priests closely related to the Seminary's growth were elevated to the rank of monsignor. Monsignor Joseph Cokus, our Rector, became Prelate of Honor, and Monsignor Gary Bauler, Director of Vocations for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, became a Chaplain to His Holiness, Pope John Paul II. The ceremony took place in the Seminary chapel. The student body sang. Many priests and relatives and friends of the new monsignors were present for the Mass and investiture. Afterwards, all enjoyed a festive luncheon livened by mariachi music.

1. Kneeling before the altar, Monsignor Cokus and Monsignor Bauler make their profession of faith
2. The newly appointed Prelate of Honor, Monsignor Joseph Cokus, poses with a long-time friend
3. After the ceremony, His Eminence Cardinal Manning and members of the clergy assemble for a commemorative photograph.
4. Seminarans David Zak (crucifer), John Forte and Robert Houle (acolytes), Miguel Orellana (master of ceremonies), and Joe Thometz (lector), lead the entrance procession

1. Flanking His Eminence, Msgr. Bauler and Msgr. Cokus smile for the camera
2. The Seminary family and friends and relatives of the new Monsignors fill the chapel at the investiture mass
3. Mingling with the students, Cardinal Manning autographs Eugene Castillo's notebook

2. Bishop Johnson keeps in touch with these seminarians and visits with them at the Seminary.

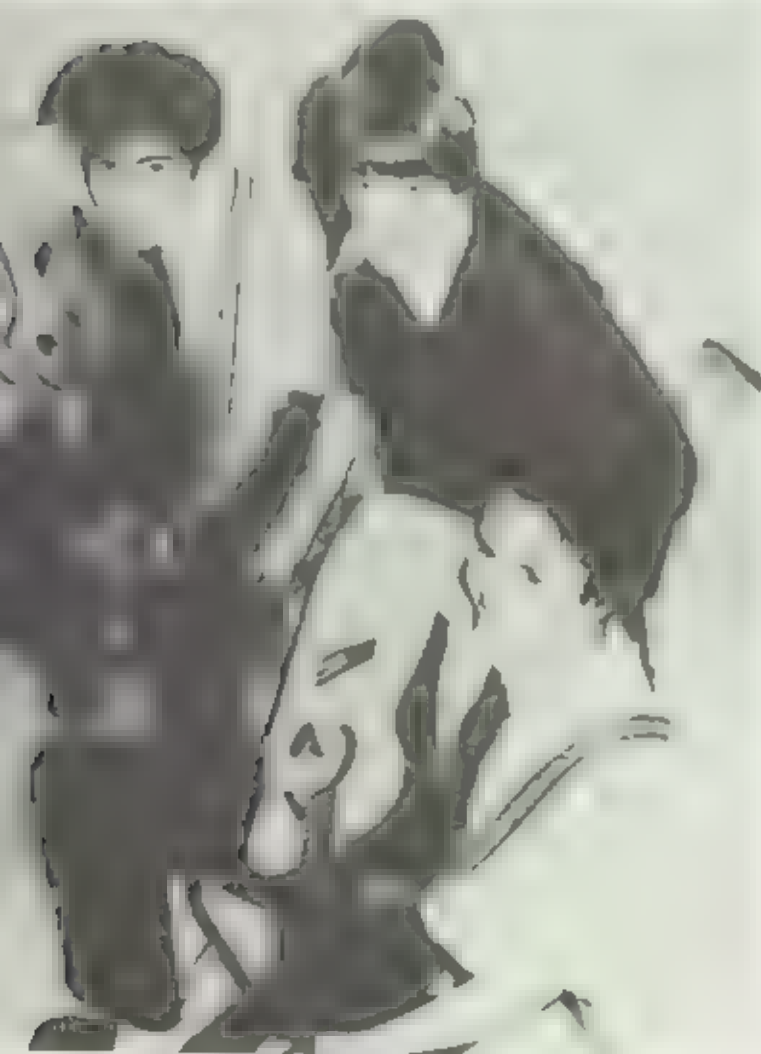

3. Father Daniel Murray, Vocation Director for the Orange Diocese, is a strong supporter of Queen of Angels

BIG BROTHER LITTLE BROTHER

The seniors are really brothers to the freshmen--brothers and friends! They take a personal interest in the freshmen and help them find their place in seminary life

1. Little brothers, Jim Roberts and Viet Nguyen, spend time with big brother, Glenn Sequera
2. Just coasting, freshmen Paul Stoltz, Tony Spangler, and Charles Reed pass the time with big brother, Joe Thometz
3. Little brothers, Jose Castillo and George Chow, get free guitar instruction from Dan Gaffey
4. Eugene Castillo, Dan Campbell, and Joe Casas learn how to study for an exam with help from big brother, Mike Dunahee

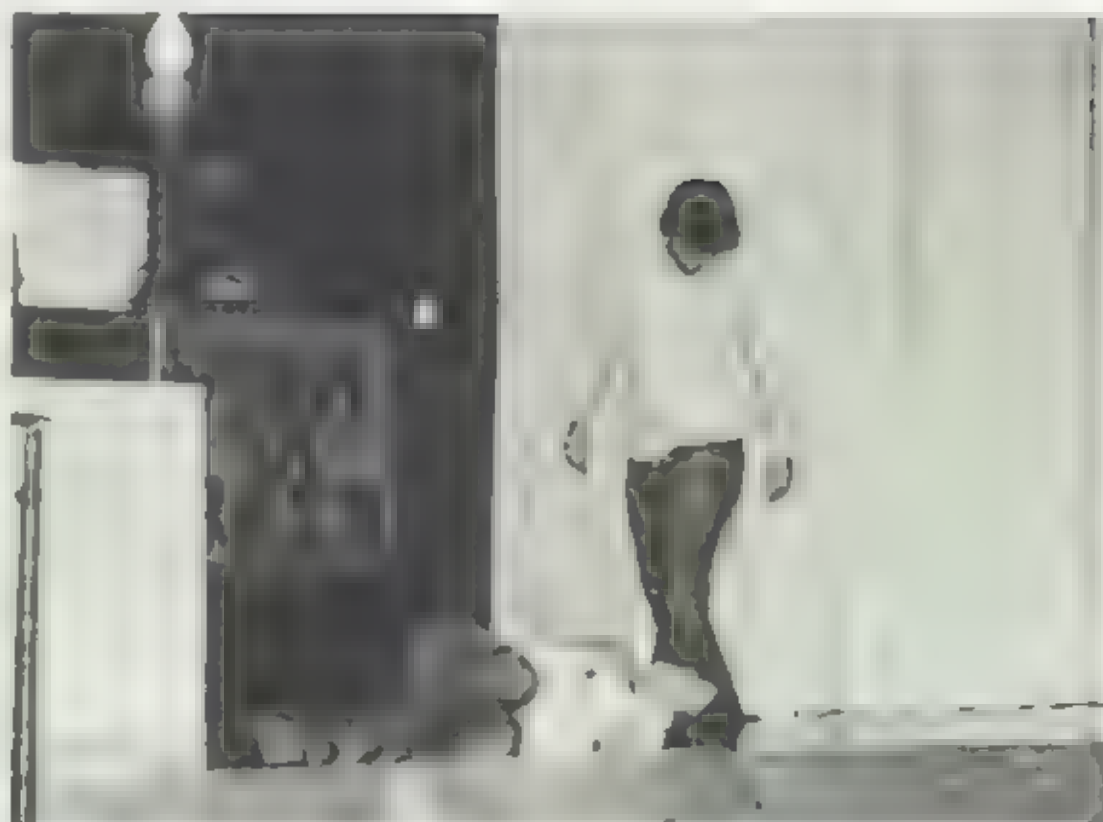

GAUDEAMUS

Gaudeamus! Let us rejoice! The traditional initiation of new students and faculty at QA takes place on Halloween each year. The show, featuring comic skits and other displays of local talent, gives us an evening of fun. Among the participants, Mr. Bustamante, a QA alumnus, is re-initiated. The senior band, the Miltons, sparks the evening with songs and music.

1. Intermission gives Mrs. Hassa and Fr. Krekelberg time for refreshments
2. Freshmen music makers, Brutus Harris and Company, liven up the evening
3. The wild West comes alive again in John Bockrath and Pat Van Leeuwen's skit
4. Setting the scene, Maurice McPherson introduces his act

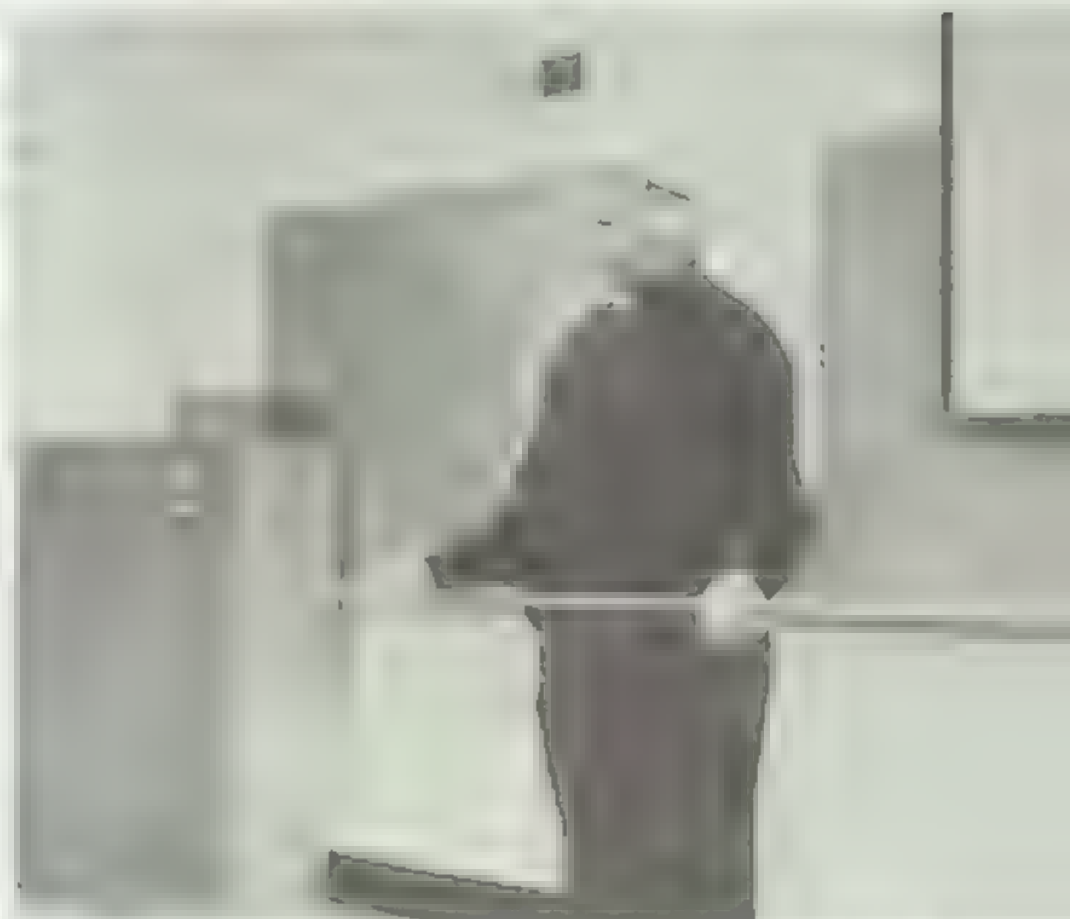

- 1 In the role of master of revels Lyford Rome takes over the microphone
- 2 New juniors, Tom Peters and Jim Henry, also perform in the Gaudemus spirit
- 3 No freshman escapes initiation-as Robert Guzman learns from seniors Dan Gaffey, David Caywood, and Paul Wolfe
- 4 It's a small world in Martin Olivar and Ronald Garcia's midget skit

GUEST SPEAKERS

During the school year, the Seminary was host to a number of visitors and guest speakers

1. Sister Paula Vandegaer, SSS explains a pro-life philosophy to QA students
2. Describing his ministry among New York City's teenage run-aways, Father Bruce Ritter, OFM, Conv opens a new world of experience to his audience
3. A highlight of first-semester Senior English classes are Msgr. Robert Brennan's occasional lectures on medieval art and architecture

CHANCERY VISIT

As an extension of their Senior religion class on evangelization, the Class of 1981 visit Cardinal Manning to learn firsthand about the work of the Church

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

A Seminary Christmas is a mingling of the solemn and the merry. This year, the Juniors, Seniors, and the Schola, under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine McGrath, focused on the solemn in a program of music and dramatic readings re-telling the nativity story. The merry part of the celebration came in the students' presentation of "appropriate" gifts to the faculty. Merry, too, was the Seminary family gathering- students, parents, friends, faculty, and staff- after the Christmas program

1. The Seniors' "antic disposition" is on display as Lyford Rome, Joe Thometz, and Mike Dunahue wish the faculty a Merry Christmas
1. Beginning the Christmas presentation, Jaime Gonzalez leads the procession into the chapel
3. Younger brothers and sisters of the seminarians bring the Christ Child to the manger
4. Caroling for the Seminary family, Mrs. McGrath and the Freshman Schola spread the Christmas spirit
5. Delighted small fry queue up to give Santa (Lyford Rome) an earful of Christmas requests

DAYS OF RECOLLECTION

Setting aside one day each month, we take time from our studies to reflect on ourselves, our progress in the Seminary, and the growth of our friendship with Christ. We try to understand what God is calling us to be. In peace, quiet and with the help of our spiritual directors we ask important questions and search for important answers

1. The Eucharistic celebration is at the heart of any day, especially a day of recollection at Queen of Angels

2. Leading the entrance procession, crucifer Dave Zak and acolytes Tom Dziak and Bill Killmond walk down the main aisle towards the altar

3. A study in silence, Tony Isias meditates on a retreat conference

4 Fr Burnham concludes the liturgy with renewed vigor, reading from the Sacramentary presented by John Weitzer

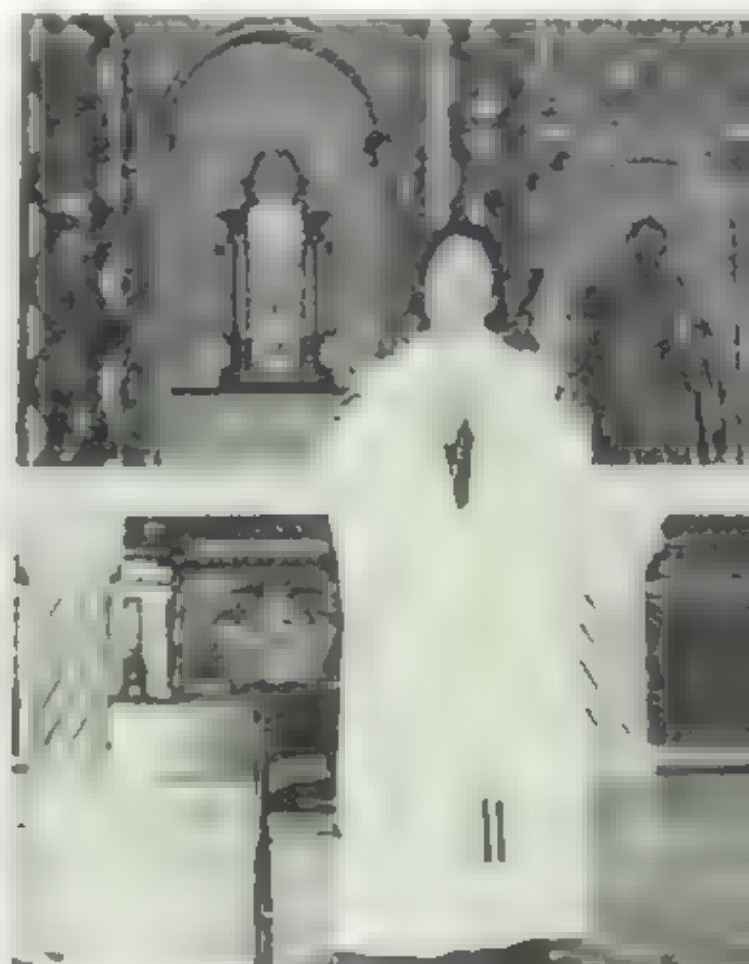

ANNUAL RETREAT

The annual retreat takes place after semester exams. We put our books aside for three days and try to concentrate on the reason for books or anything else in our lives.

During these special days, through private and communal prayer and in conferences with our spiritual directors, we try to grow in friendship with God and with one another.

1 Freshman retreat master Fr. Ted Llanos uses paper airplanes to symbolize prayer.

2 Discussing the spiritual exercises of St. Ignatius, Fr. Frank Parrish prepares the seniors for an afternoon meditation.

3 Fr. Jim Gehl, sophomore and junior retreat master, gives a dramatic homily during the closing mass.

4. Tim McGinty receives a memento blessed by Fr. Parrish, Fr. Gehl, and Fr. Llanos.

This page sponsored by Rev. Edward Landreau, and Nativity Parish, Los Angeles

JOG-A-THON

The QA Jog-A-Thon is on the way to becoming a Seminary tradition. As in the movies, the success of Jog-A-Thon I begot Jog-A-Thon II. This activity gives the students plenty of healthy exercise for a good cause—raising funds to support ASB projects. Even faculty members participate, either cheering runners on or running a lap or two themselves.

QA CLASSIC

The QA Classic pits class team against class team in a competition that leads to a final play-off between the two best teams. This year, the Seniors and Juniors battled it out for first place. After a no-score first half, the Seniors made a touchdown in the second half and went on to claim the trophy.

1. Charge! The Jog-A-Thon-ing student body surges into motion at the sound of Coach Crowley's starting gun.
2. Hang in, guys!
3. Jorge Ramirez outmaneuvers Carlos Armas in a tight play.
4. With style, Tony Isias sets the ball and the game in motion.

SENIOR, ALL-STAR GAME

The Senior, All-Star Game is the high-point of intramural sports at QA. Each year, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen field a team of their ablest players, an all-star team. Their objective is to break the Senior team's long winning streak. Pre-game activities are colorful and loud. This year's Senior team, the "Bods," arrived on the field in style, banners flying, horns tooting, and cheers echoing. Their enthusiasm stayed with them, and they emerged victorious—again.

1. The menacing "Bods" gather around their coach, Msgr. Cokus.
2. The "Big Bod" himself poses for a photo during half-time
3. Coach Crowley can't believe his eyes and walks away
4. Referee Tom Daly supervises the opening kick-off

APOSTOLIC WORKS

YOUTH MINISTRY

This year, the Seniors worked in an expanded ministry to youth-in-detention program. Under the direction of Father Ziemann and Sister Eloise Cooney, OP, they visited detention facilities in Los Angeles County. At some facilities the Seniors entertained the teen groups with music and comedy skits. At others they engaged in peer counseling with the detainees. As part of their learning about the youth ministry, the Seniors met and interacted with members of the Youth Authority, probation officers, and former juvenile offenders.

1. After playing for a Mass at Juvenile Hall, Tony Islas, Mike Dunahee, Jorge Ramirez, Gino D'Amato, and John Miller unload their instruments.
2. Before a performance at Camp Holton, the Seniors gather on stage for a picture.
3. Visiting the convalescent home, Mrs. Wishard chats with one of the patients.
4. A nurse brings Kevin Nolan and Mrs. Wishard the news that visiting hours are over.

CONVALESCENT HOME

Every Wednesday afternoon, a group of Juniors and Sophomores accompanies Mrs. Jaon Wishard on a visit to patients at Villa de la Cruz Convalescent Hospital. The seminarians entertain the patients, talk with them, and try to brighten their day.

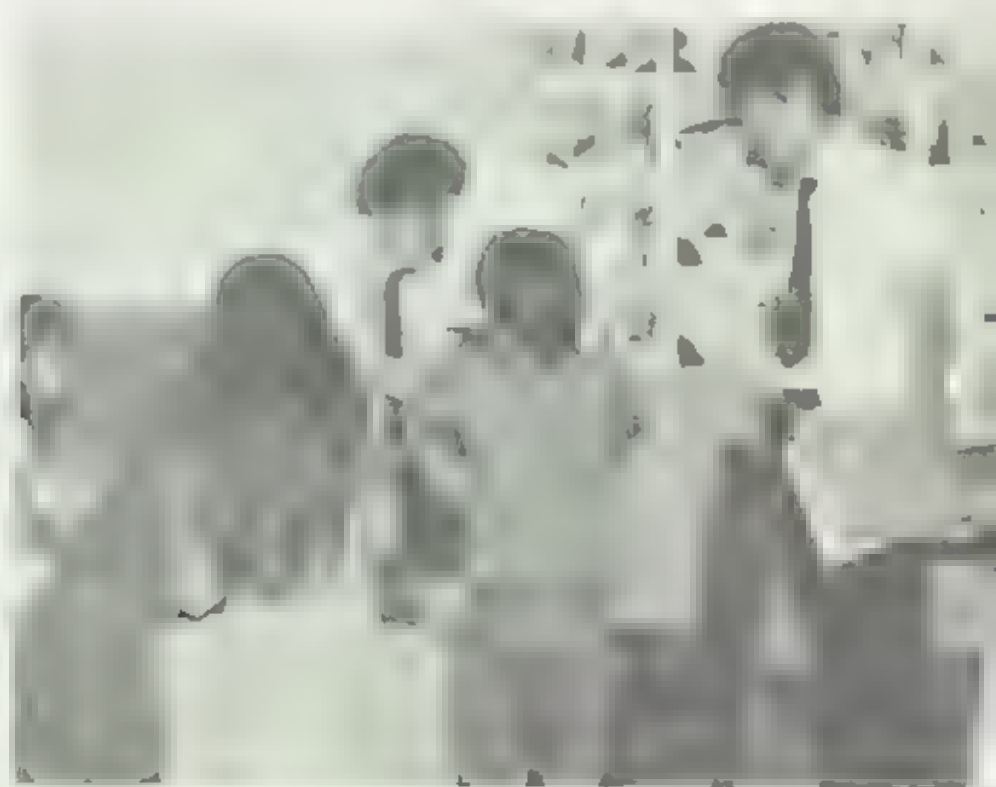

CCD TEACHER TRAINING

The Seniors and Juniors participate in a two-year teacher-training program in order to become certified CCD teachers. The program has three parts. In September, the students attend a weekend workshop where they learn basic teaching methods. Later in the year, they attend the CCD Congress in Anaheim, learning still more about catechetics. Finally, they encounter the real thing, the classroom experience. Every week, the Seniors go to St. Didacus Parish in Sylmar to teach CCD classes. This on-the-job training gives the Seniors an opportunity to put theory into practice.

1. At the CCD Congress, some Juniors and Seniors enjoy Father Krekelberg's company.
2. Arts and crafts are effective teaching aids for John Miller and Art Ramirez.
3. The sixth grade CCD class listens to Chris Moscicki read the story of Jesus' resurrection.

Dear Friends,

Through The Prep '81 we want to share a record of our Seminary year with you. We hope that as you read it, you'll remember the experience that made this year special. We hope, too, that you'll notice how much we've all grown and changed. While the 1980-81 school year may have been different in many ways for each of us, we hope that it has been a year of growing, earning, and happiness for all of us.

As for us, putting this yearbook together has been a lot of work, but it has been fun too. We couldn't have done it without the dedication, perseverance, endurance, high quality, and finesse of the Prep staff.

We should mention our Advisor, but we won't, as she says she's not into comic books.

Well, since we can't figure out anything else to say, and we don't want to dangle any modifiers, and since our Advisor constantly reminds us to cut the baloney, we'd better cut it. We just want to say "thanks" for being part of our year and for making it the stuff of good memories in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

Glenn Sequeira

We are grateful to our ladies of the Seminary-Mrs. Apolito, Mrs. Cranham, Mrs. Dunlap, Mrs. Hassa, and Mrs. Murry-for caring, helping, and bailing us out of difficulties of every sort

-to Paul Collins and Kim Robinson of Josten's American Yearbook Company for guiding us through the complexities of yearbooking

-to Mr. Bill Christy of The Portrait Gallery for taking the Senior portraits and faculty, staff, and student photos-and making us look so good

-to the faculty for putting up with us and taking Prep disruptions in stride

-to Father Ziemann, especially, for understanding about deadlines.

to Sister St. George for tolerance, sagacity and moderation to the Prep staff members for everything they gave and to the degree they gave to a common objective

We ask God's blessing on all those who care about and support the Junior Seminary

We grow as the sapling does-steadily, slowly, quietly
We blossom as the flowers do-boldly, suddenly, beautifully.
We change as the seasons dosubtly, inevitably, uniquely.
Until we rejoice in the fullness of our growth-
branches of the Vine
